Arm Tour Itiner

st overnight stop.

This type of tour was started about 20 years ago by First Security. "We felt that in order to compete successfully, the farmers and ranchers of our area had to learn first-hand about new improved methods of operation being employed in other parts of the country," Mr. Thomas noted.

EVERY TOUR WE HAVE

Thomas has proved very successful and many of the people signed up for this year's tour are repeat customers. I firmly believe the tour we have planned this year will be the best of all," he said.

Tour highlights include:

—Oak Meadows Ranch, Clay County, California, established three generations ago by the Hamilton family — site of one of California's first registered Hereford studs.

—Ken Lane Hampshire sheep operation. Located in the Lock-ford area, Mr. Lane has developed a high quality flock and good commercial cattle.

—Lewallen Ranch, Linden, California. John Lewallen is noted for his development of very heavy weaning weights in registered Poleld Herefords.

—Rudd Manufacturing Company, Ripon, California, noted for very successful design of agricultural equipment, including enclosures for herringbone milking parlors and sophisticated feed-handling equipment.

—Tannehill Cattle Company, Salinas, California. Here tour participants will see some of the more exotic cattle, including Santa Gertrudis bulls, and Simmental and Limousin animals.

—Double J Ranch, near Salinas. Double J is the home of Doc Bar, one of the world's notable sires of performance quarter horses.
